

V&A Museum of Childhood
Cambridge Heath Road, London, E2 9PA

The V&A Museum of Childhood is one of London's best-loved museums, holding the largest collection of toys, dolls, dolls' houses and games in the world. It is also a magnificent, grade II* listed Victorian building with remarkable spaces, offering many possibilities for entertaining, just 1.5 miles from Liverpool Street in central London.

A variety of options for entertaining are available, from elegant evening receptions on the impressive marble floor to simple breakfast meetings in the newly refurbished meeting rooms.

The Marble floor is a stunning and impressive space suitable for drinks receptions and dinners. The Victorian iron columns and girders support a splendid ceiling. The room has easy access to the gallery spaces and allows guests to have a private viewing of the exhibits during the reception or prior to dinner.

The Museum has a dynamic programme of temporary exhibitions produced by the Museum itself, and a variety of touring exhibitions which are relevant both to adults and children of all ages.

Capacities:
