

Chiswick House
Chiswick, London, W4 2RP

Chiswick House, an exceptionally beautiful villa, set within an oasis of outstanding landscaped grounds, is one West London's most sought after locations for elegant occasions and impeccable service.

Designed by Lord Burlington in 1728, Chiswick House is one of the finest Palladian villas in the country. In its heyday, the House acted both as a gallery for Lord Burlington's fine art collection and as a glamorous party venue where he could entertain friends, family and high society.

The walls of the Red and Green Velvet Room show off the house's fine collection of paintings, hung several deep in the style favoured during the 18th century. The Velvet Rooms can be used for small intimate dinners or combined with the Domed Saloon, so that larger dinners and stylish drinks receptions can be held whilst retaining an intimate atmosphere.

The Courtyard lies directly adjacent to the House. This private and sheltered outdoor space is a lovely setting for summer drinks receptions before dinner within the House. Guests can stroll directly into the gardens or down to the lake.

Burlington Pavilion is sited to the front right of the house to allow for larger events at certain times of the year.
