

Ranger's House

Blackheath, London, SE10 8QX

Situated on the borders of Blackheath and Greenwich Park, Ranger's House is a stylish and memorable setting for special events.

It was built around 1700 as the official residence of the Ranger of Greenwich and is now home to the Wernher Collection, an impressive display of silver, jewels, paintings and porcelain. The highlight is the jewel vault which holds more than 100 Renaissance pieces, each exquisitely enamelled and studded with gems and represents one of the finest jewellery collections in Europe.

The bay windows in the Gallery offer views across the private walled garden, Greenwich Park's rose garden and Blackheath. The Walled Garden adjoins the House and is ideal for drinks receptions in the summer prior to dinner in the Gallery.

Ranger's House have a licence to hold civil wedding ceremonies. However, please note that at present dancing is not possible inside the House and it is not possible to erect a marquee in the grounds.
