

Kensington Palace

Kensington High Street, London, W8 4AQ

Elegant entertaining in a unique royal venue Kensington Palace has been a royal residence for over 300 years. The Principal London residence of the monarch for both George I and George II, Kensington Palace was the birthplace of the future Queen Victoria.

Situated in the heart of West London, Kensington Palace offers a unique selection of rooms for corporate, private and charity receptions and dinners.

The Orangery at Kensington Palace was designed for Queen Anne by Hawksmoor in 1704. Situated in private formal gardens, the Orangery is available for functions throughout the year and offers a haven of peace and tranquillity.

For more intimate functions, Apartment 1a, the former home of Princess Margaret and Lord Snowden, offers a private, exclusive and contemporary space for lunch, dinners and conferences.

The State Apartments are excellent for hosting dinners and receptions and may be combined with a reception in the Sunken Garden.

For the next two years, we are offering fantastic prices and your guests will have the opportunity to discover our acclaimed Enchanted Palace Exhibition.
