8 King Street, St. James's, SW1Y 6QT

Christie's, the world's oldest fine art auctioneer, has sold fine art, furniture, jewellery and wine since James Christie conducted the first sale in London on 5 December 1766. Since then Christie's has continued to provide the perfect backdrop for the world's finest collections and greatest works of art before their auction. Christie's moved to its headquarters at 8 King Street, St. James's, in 1823, still its London headquarters today.

Christie's is pleased to offer its gallery spaces and state of the art rooms at our London headquarters on 8 King Street. The rooms cover 12,000 square feet and offer a variety of impressive event spaces in the heart of St. James's Piccadilly. The varied sale program from traditional to contemporary provides a unique setting to suit every event.

Christie's also offers its gallery space at their South Kensington saleroom on 85 Old Brompton Road. At the center of London's museum district, Christie's South Kensington provides a series of versatile, modern spaces with an ever-changing program of sales which can serve as a unique backdrop to your event.

In hosting your event at one of Christie's salerooms, you can also take advantage of their auction expertise and knowledge with bespoke services such as mock auctions, wine tastings and gallery talks.
